Dear Mr/Mrs,

We are honoured to invite you to take part in the 2nd International Scientific and Practical Conference "Actual Problems of Teaching Educational Components of Social and Humanitarian Sphere in Higher Education".

The conference applies to the professionals in the field of innovative and information technologies in the development of teaching educational components of social and humanitarian sphere in higher education. Participants will be enabled to present their experience during plenary and breakout sessions of the conference, as well as partake in discussions. Reports will be published in the peer-reviewed proceedings (electronic edition).

The conference is aimed at contributing to the development of a critical look at the teaching educational components of social and humanitarian sphere in higher education. Meanwhile, we hope that participants of the conference will demonstrate initiative and desire to offer ideas, opinions, research, practices and proposals that can lead this sphere in a new direction. We see new perspectives opening up for society and offer the opportunity to challenge traditions and go beyond standards. We encourage you to share your thoughts on new ways of teaching social sciences and humanities in higher education.

In order to achieve these goals, the conference programme includes an open format with presentations, workshops, webinars and discussion forums.

The conference is scheduled for 05 June, 2024. The conference programme will be released at a later date, and the sessions will be open to all those who have registered for the online event.

We look forward to seeing you!
